THE VATORI ENVOY

ARCHETYPE

You are the sharpest Vatori Envoy in this part of Zira-Ka, and you know it. Your job is to contribute to "global Vatori domination," whatever that is. You suspect that there may be an invasion on the way, but you think it would be unnecessary and crude, not to mention economically unsound. None the less, you do what the New Empire tells you to do. When not on some specific mission, you try to involve yourself in something that seems like it could give you contacts or influence at some point later on. Not everyone loves the Vatori, and not everyone loves the tank born, but you think it is a reasonable trade off for your superior intellect and longevity. Speaking of which— you should find an alternative rejuvenation tank. Empires have a tendency to fall, eventually.

Special: You have a somewhat over-sized head. Your core bond is with a beginner cloud.

†: Sager Kin-gun (d6/5/silencer)

ARCHETYPE BOON

You have diplomatic immunity in some city states. You also get a Vatori Gunta coin which can be used to get some very serious Vatori assistance once. It can be renewed on official imperial missions.
